INFORMATION ABOUT CAMPOBASSO CITY

Campobasso is a city in central-southern Italy, the capital of the Molise Region. It is located in the Biferno river basin, surrounded by the Sannio and Matese mountains. The city is the seat of the University of Molise and the Archdiocese of Campobasso-Boiano. The province covers an area of 1,123 square miles, which includes 84 municipalities, including Campobasso, the regional capital. To the north-east, it is bounded by the Adriatic Sea, to the north, by Abruzzo, from Puglia to its south-east, and by Campania to the south (while the Province of Isernia is located in the western part). Leaving the backbone of the Apennines and passing through the hills, lakes and inland rivers, we reach the Adriatic coast. Here, a rather varied landscape alternates villages, towns and cities scattered across its hills and along the cliffs. The territory is crossed by the valleys of the Trigno, Biferno and Fortore rivers: these follow a path through the hills and mountains, before widening abruptly when they approach the sea. There are two artificial lakes that have become important wetland habitats for birds, both sedentary and migratory: Lago di Guardialfiera (also known as "del Liscione" after the dam it formed) and Lago di Occhito. Population: 48000 residents.

Altitude: 701 m.

THE COMPETITION VENUE

The competition will take on Biferno Stream in the villages of Castropignano, Baranello, Fossalto e Oratino.

The venue is situated at 12 km North of Campobasso town.

The venue is 12 km long, the width is between 10 and 20 m, the depth varies between 50 cm and 1,5 meter.

Species present: Trout (Salmo trutta fario, Oncorhynchus mykiss), whose weight varies from 120 to 300 g approximately. For the competition the river will be restocked with Rainbow Trout (Oncorhynchus mykiss) of about 130/150 g.
